Different types of SELFIE!

Level: Pre-Intermediate (A2) to Intermediate (B1)

Audio: Yes

In this fun lesson, your students will talk about selfies. This practical class will get your students using lots of useful language and all the essential skills: speaking, listening, reading and writing. Here are some ideas for doing it in class. Good luck!

1 Warm-up

Selfie descriptions – scroll down for the student pages

Display the famous selfies on the Resource Page (see below). In pairs or small groups, students describe them, and say who's in the pictures and what's happening.

Then, they look over the list of types of selfies (further down the page) and decide what they consist of. When they're ready, discuss their ideas as a class.

2 Lesson activities

Scroll down for the lesson. Go through the activities for the lesson on the sheet: the Pre-reading, Reading I and Reading II activities. You could do this lesson as a listening activity. In order to do this, tell your students to turn over the sheet so they can't see the text as they do the exercises.

Remember, for the first listening you should play the recording once without stopping so students get the gist of it.

For the second listening, if your students' listening level is low, stop the recording after each paragraph and check their understanding.

After finishing that, and if you've done this as a listening activity (not a reading), let your students read the text as you play the recording again. This is good for developing their listening skills as they can see the connection between the written and spoken language.

3 Follow-up activities

Retell it!

Assign a paragraph (or paragraphs) to each student. Students have a minute or two to try to remember the text. When they're ready, students try to recount the information, using as much of the language as possible. This works well in pairs, with you monitoring the language.

The famous selfie presentation

In pairs or individually, students take their own selfie or find one online (by searching on Google). Then, they prepare a short presentation on it, explaining who's in it, where it's taken, when it's taken, etc. They should include copies of the selfie to show other students. When they're ready, students present their selfie to the class. Other students listen and then ask questions.

Selfie dialogue

In pairs, students write up notes for a dialogue between a reporter and someone who was in one of the selfies from the article. The reporter should ask questions using who, what, where, why, when, how to get as much information as possible about the selfie. Tell your students to make the dialogue as funny, silly or serious as they like. When they're ready, ask for volunteers to act out their dialogues (from memory or by using notes, not reading it out word-for-word). Other students listen and vote on the best ones. Students could also film the dialogues on a smartphone then show it to the class.

Discussion: photography & selfies

Discuss these questions in pairs.

- What was the last photo you took? Who was it of? Where did you take it?
- What do you usually take photos of?
- What do you do with your photos: keep them on your phone, put them onto a computer or hard-drive...?
- Do you ever make prints of your photos? What do you do with the prints?
- Do you make photo albums? Why? Why not?
- Have you framed and displayed any of your photos? Which ones? What are they of? Where are they hanging?
- Have you ever taken a selfie? Where were you? When was it? Who were you with?

DIFFERENT TYPES OF SELFIE!

Thousands of smartphone self-portraits or “selfies” are taken and shared every day. But not all selfies are the same.

The bed selfie

Take a picture of yourself in bed. Also known as a morning selfie.

A beach feet selfie

A picture of your feet with the sand and sea in the background. Guaranteed to make your friends jealous while they're stuck in an office.

A food selfie

A picture of you with a plate of food that you're about to eat.

The gym selfie

The drunk selfie

A selfie of you while you're drunk.

The duckface selfie

For this selfie, simply push out your lips and make them look bigger and sexier. Also known as a trout pout selfie.

A friends selfie

Take a horizontal picture of you

with lots of friends to show just how popular you are.

The shy selfie

A picture of you looking shy and awkward, as if you didn't want the picture taken... even though it was you who took it!

Belfie

An abbreviated form of “bottom selfie”, this is a self-portrait showing your backside. This is popular among celebrities such as Kim Kardashian and Rihanna.

The holiday selfie

A picture of you in some exotic location. Guaranteed to make your friends jealous.

The famous friends selfie

Take a picture of yourself with someone famous, then let all your friends know about it.

The badass selfie

A picture of yourself looking really mean and hard, even though the worst thing you've ever done is to cross the road when the lights were red.

The happy couple selfie

A picture that says, “Look, I've got a wonderful boyfriend/girlfriend.”

The naked selfie

Naked selfies are often used for sexting.

Democratic congressman Anthony Wiener became internationally famous after sending naked selfies to a number of women.

The inappropriate selfie

A selfie taken at an inappropriate moment, such as at a funeral, or like the one David McCarthy took after German cyclist Marcel Kittel had collapsed to the ground with exhaustion, or the one a young man took of himself at Eastbourne pier (in southern England), which was in blazes. ☹
